

Cheese Packaging Vacuum Packaging Film & Bags

Description

M&Q Packaging Corporation is the leader in the development and production of Vacuum Packaging Film & Bags for the cheese packaging industry.

Our cheese-related products are extruded through a multiple layer process, providing discrete packaging characteristics with each layer, making them a more cost-effective and efficient storage alternative.

Vacuum packaging block cheese with our film or bags enhances the curing process, allowing cheese to develop its natural flavor and texture, while retaining its color. It also ensures a robust package that is durable, easy to seal, and contains the oxygen and moisture barrier properties necessary to extend shelf life throughout the distribution cycle

Features

- Locks out oxygen and locks in the proper amount of moisture, which dramatically reduces waste due to the growth of mold
- Provides exceptional clarity for visual quality checks (available in clear, opaque or dairy blue options)
- Offers extended shelf life with protected freshness and consistent food quality/taste, while decreasing the amount of waste
- Possesses optimum stiffness to conform warm, soft curd cheeses into smooth, attractive finished cheese blocks, while remaining puncture and heat resistant
- Allows for wrapping of bulk blocks up to 50 lbs
- Is ISO-registered, NSF-certified, Kosher, HALAL-approved and in compliance with FDA regulations

Applications

Two types of bags are available for 40-50 lb cheese blocks:

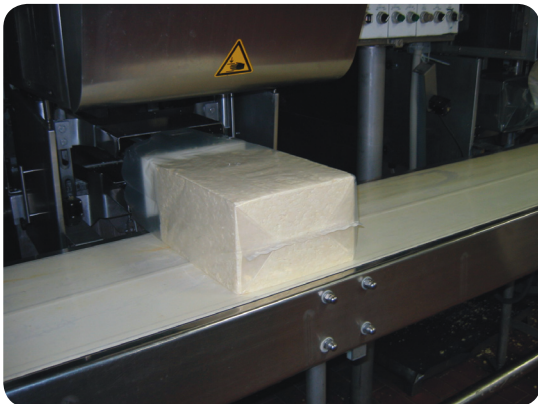

- Lay-flat configuration with excellent seal and abuse resistance for manual operations
- Gusseted design for tower auto-loading applications

Custom, engineered solutions are also available from M&Q Packaging Corporation.

The M&Q Advantage

Founded in 1956, M&Q Packaging Corporation not only has the ability to process different types of plastics, but also delivers precisely engineered solutions to various plastic applications. Our quick turnaround time, exceptional customer service, and superior value for the investment make M&Q the choice for custom-designed plastic packaging products.
